

Shipper Collaboration

Centralize Collaboration Across Your Supply Chain

Internal logistics, finance, and operations teams. External shippers, freight forwarders, and carriers. Your supply chain can include a lot of parties (to say the least). Bring everyone onto the same page with Shippabo's unified platform.

Shippabo's cloud-based management platform brings greater visibility, pricing, collaboration, and actionable data to every shipment.

Communicate Entirely In-App

Keep all conversations in one place, so no one misses a beat. Use in-shipment messaging to communicate directly with your team, supplier, or Shippabo. Make notes and check statuses within shipments.

Customize Team Permissions

Create permissions and automations based on your team needs. Set permissions for every involved party, both for the actions they can take and the information they can access. Easily segment certain automations, like sending invoices right to accounting.

Stay Connected with Integrations

Integrate seamlessly with the systems your team already uses. Shippabo connects you with the platforms your team knows and loves from warehouse management to purchase order management and accounting software.

Turn Shipment into Templates

Use templates to keep processes consistent and quickly re-quote or re-book. Any quote or shipment can be turned into a template and assigned to users within the platform.

Lean on Auto-Notifications

Stay on top of shipments without lifting a finger. Automatically receive in-app and email notifications on changes to the shipment schedules, U.S. Customs statuses, and delivery confirmation

Store Important Documents

Keep all your important documents in one place with Shippabo's document repository. Search, find, and share documents as you need them.
